FREIGHT.

Messrs. Lambe and Rogge write in their circular of 5th inst. as follows:—There is some slight change in the latter since last reporting on the 20th ultimo, inasmuch as extensive floods around Canton have destroyed the rice crop, the local market for rice is advancing, and in consequence demand has sprung up for tonnage Saigon to this resulting in fixer 5 up to 17 cents per picul. At the close 17 cents is offering. Saigon to Philippines, since last writing two small cargoes have been booked at 3 and 30 cents. Saigon to Wladivostok, a boat has obtained part cargo at 50 cents,
with a filling for Hongkong, and in a like manner another steamer has closed for a part cargo for Yokohama or Kobe at 15 cents with a filling for this port. The latter fixture, as concerns the rate, must be considered exceptional and due to the small quantity; the current rate for medium cargoes could hardly be quoted higher than 27 cents, nominal.

Hongkong has had a further fixture for natives' account at 28 1/2 cents to this port, including downward cargo fee, and again several other outsiders have arranged for berth loading under liners' terms. News has been received here, however, that cargo some how is not as plentiful now as of late and is not expected to be plentiful during next few weeks.

Officially notified that the consequences of hubbub plague vessel from Hongkong and China ports are required to complete 10 days before arrival at Hongkong.

From Java there is still nothing doing, but inquiries are looked for before very long.

From the Yangtze ports, a few locally controlled outside boats have secured freights for this port and Canton on lump sum basis equivalent to about 17 1/2 cents, in one instance 19 cents is reported to have been obtained.

Newchwang to Canton, business during the fixing of only one small cargo, the rate for which has successfully been held at 22 cents, same as last, but high produce prices up North are curtailing operations and Amoy and Swatow keep out of the market also, as far as non-liners are concerned.

Japan coal freight has experienced a sharp rise with $1.60 paid Moji or Kuchino for this port, and large boats fixed, all for prompt loading. At the close the demand seems satisfied. Atsoran to this port, a further steamer has been done at $2 per ton.
Wakamatsu to Canton has had two fixtures at 12 1/2.

From Pulo Lunt to this port $3.00 per ton has been paid to fill an urgent requirement for prompt loading.

Keluan to Canton, there has been business at $2.00, and Tientsin to Canton at about same rate.
Hongkong to Hongkong, nominal, all for prompt loading. A light draft steamer has been fixed Hongkong to Singapore, to discharge at Pulo Blau at $2.75.

On monthly terms, no business has been reported locally.

In sail freights there is nothing new to advise.
Sail freight engaged:—American bark Alta, now replying.

Departures of sailers:—None.

LUMBAGO LOST.

Once an aching sufferer, Incapable of work and hopeless of relief.

Strength and Activity were restored by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. William Patterson, who lives at 57, Hannah-street, Newcastle-on-Tyne, England fought in the Sudan and South African Wars. Returning home he accepted a position at Elswick Ordinance Works. He states:—

"One day I caught a severe cold. It seemed to break me up completely, and from that day I suffered continually from chills and fever. I could not get warm, and every bone in my body ached. Exhausting pains shot across my kidneys and the
in 11 of my back, causing many sleepless nights."

"Becoming alarmed, I consulted a medical man, who pronounced my case to be Lumbago. I took physic, but I did not feel better—in fact, as time passed, I grew worse, and was no longer capable of doing work properly."

"All vigour and activity had left me. My ap petite fell away, and I suffered from acute indigestion. The pains in my chest and sides grew more violent, until I was repelled by the sight of food."

"Just at this time it occurred to me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. So I began taking them, and after seven pills I felt the pains shifting. I got rapidly better, and with one bottle all pain had disappeared. Then I could eat without discomfort. I felt bright and cheerful; new life came to me, and I felt ten years younger. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills gave such strength and energy that I followed my occupation without any fear of breakdown. Now I am a healthy, vigorous man again, always ready for a hard day's work."

"When your vital organs become weakened they can be restored to healthy activity only by an increased supply of rich, pure blood. Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People feed the starved veins with good, red blood, and fortify the whole nervous system. These pills have cured Anemia, Indigestion, Bile, Palpitations, Influenza, Eczema, Consumption, Kidney Disease, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, St.
Vitus' Dance, Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxy, Ladies' Ailments. Ask for the genuine pills, labelled Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. If in doubt, send 2s. 9d. for one bottle, or 13s. 9d. for six bottles to Dr. Williams'
Medicine Co., Holborn-viaduct, London. [130]

THE CHINA ASSOCIATION.

Events travel so rapidly in the Far East, which is no longer entitled to the epithet of "unchanging," that the proceedings of today are the ancient news of tomorrow. In consequence, the questions which were of absorbing interest the other day wear a somewhat antiquated appearance now, either because they have ceased to interest, having served their purpose, or have lost their original character by force of circumstances. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that the year book of the China Association recalls matters which had been consigned to the limbo of the forgotten, and resuscitates events which seem to have been long dead and forgotten. The publication of the China Association's doings during 1905 shows that there is a very keen tie between that body and its representatives in the Far East. There were stirring times in 1905, when the war was flickering to a close. The position of the Powers in China was, and still remains, a serious question, particularly the retention of Weihai-wei and this was one of the matters dealt with by the Association last year. Under the treaty it seemed probable that with the evacuation of Port Arthur by the Russians, Great Britain would be compelled to leave Weihai-wei, just as Germany would have to return Kiaochow to the Chinese. That seemed to be the view of the British Government, as indicated by the disbanding of the native troops at Weihai-wei; but other counsels have prevailed and Weihai-wei is still the summer resort of the Fleet in these waters. Then again, in purely Chinese affairs there was a regrettable cessation of operations in connection with the Canton-Hankow railway and an apparent apathy on the part of the Chinese people to deal with the construction of the line. The proposed Kowloon-Canton railway lay in abeyance, and the only works being carried out were in connection with the Ching-Han railway from Hankow to Peking, and the Shanghai-Nanking line. Since the China Association's report was written there has been a marvellous change in the situation. The Chinese are projecting railways all over the country; in Southern China especially a perfect network of lines is proposed to be built; and the people are displaying a real interest in the subject of extending their internal communications. The hon. secretary, Mr. Joseph Welch, remarks that "in a recent communication the Hongkong Branch strongly recommend working 'heart and soul' with the Japanese in the matter of railway construction in China in future—Japan to supply engineers and Great Britain the capital. But such a course seems to be hardly feasible, even if it were desirable, as the lending country would naturally prefer the work being done under the supervision of its own engineers." It might have been added with much force that the cry of "China for the Chinese" is a very real factor in the political and commercial world to-day. The wish to secure shares in the Canton-Hankow railway by all classes of people, from gentry to coolies, will not be readily forgotten, and its importance is highly significant. The combination of merchants at all the treaty ports to boycott American goods, their cohesion and unity, and the ability manifested to form a common standard are matters which must be accepted as portents for the future. Merchants in the Far East, at any rate, realise quite clearly that China will no longer be as capable of exploitation as she has been in the past. Whether China will succeed at present in finding native capital for the numerous undertakings which emulation of Japan has led her to adopt, and ignore offers of foreign assistance, remains for the future to unfold. Reference is made to the coinage question and the general depreciation in the value of the 10-cash coins owing to the fact that the market was flooded with coins by twenty mints at the rate of five million a day. When Sir Ernest Satow approached the Chinese Minister for Finance on the subject he was promptly told that so far from there being a plethora of coins there was, in fact, not enough in circulation to warrant the Government in calling in the old "cash" and the Peking "big cash." There was in reality a tightness in the market owing to the suppression of spurious small cash, put into circulation by unlicensed coiners.

However, Sir James Mackay's treaty with reference to an Imperial coinage, still remains inoperative, and for the present there seems to be very little inclination on the part of the Chinese authorities to deal with the matter. An account of the fracas which occurred at Shanghai, as the result of the Mixed Court squabble, is included in the report, and brief mention is made of the efforts of the Association to induce the Foreign Office to have vessels from His Majesty's fleet to search for and destroy floating mines. As we know, very little has been done by Great Britain to suppress this evil, and even Japan has failed to clear the northern seas of this menace to shipping. In the body of the volume containing the report of the Association's labours on behalf of mercantile and other interests in China long correspondence between the Association and the Foreign Office appears, and from that it is clear that the representatives of China societies and individuals are by no means slow to take action when called upon to do so. The Association is perfectly sound financially, and should have a long career in front of it.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THE English Mail of the 7th April was delivered in London on the 4th inst.

THE revenue collected by the Harbour Department from the New Territory, during 1905, was $18,424.95.

THE fire brigade were called out shortly after twelve o'clock last night to a false alarm of fire which originated at No. 10, Macdonald Road.

THE str. Leksang has arrived at Chefoo under her own steam. She has been ordered to Tsingtau, where she will dock and effect repairs sufficient to take her to Shanghai in safety.

THE new tower on Green Island to take the former Cape D'Aguilar Light, is now completed, and the light placed in position, with occulting gear complete. It will be displayed from the 1st day of the new year.

THE Chinese Engineering and Mining Co.'s total output of the Company's three mines for the week ended the 21st inst. amounted to 8,925.43 tons and the sales during the period to 20,750.30 tons.

CAPTAIN J. H. Brown of the s.s. Yachow which arrived in port yesterday afternoon from Shanghai reports passing a quantity of white and green painted wood, evidently cabin fittings, off Single Island on the 4th inst. This is supposed to be some of the ill-fated Chukong's wreckage.

THE total revenue collected by the Harbour Department during last year was $30,357.76, being a decrease of $33,919 on the previous year, and is made up as follows:—Light dues $74,233.45, licences and internal revenue $61,668.45, and fees of Court and office $169,665.86.

RASNET Deen, Indian watchman on board s.s. Tung Chung, was arrested on Sunday afternoon and placed before Mr. F. A. Hazeland this morning on a charge of trespassing on War Department property, at Wanchai yesterday. He pleaded guilty and his Worship imposed a fine of $2.

"I ONLY wanted to remain in Hongkong for two days," said Tse Cheung, at the Magistracy this morning. He was charged before Mr. F. A. Hazeland, at the instance of Sergeant Appleton, of Yau-ma-tei Station, with being a rogue and vagabond, and returning from banishment on the 5th instant. Tse, when he made up his mind to visit this Colony again, did not for a minute think that his visit would be so long. His Worship sentenced him to one year's hard labour and six hours' stock.

HARRY Anderson, a Mongkok overseer, was charged this morning at the Police Court, with behaving in a disorderly manner whilst drunk on a private dwelling house on the Praya East on Saturday. Defendant, it was stated, was "under the weather" at the time. He entered a dwelling house and taking up his position on a bed, started waving his walking-stick about, frightening the occupants. Anderson admitted the charge this morning, adding, with great stress, that it was his first offence. Mr. Hazeland fined him $3.

SHORTLY after six o'clock yesterday afternoon, an accident occurred at West Point, and although the woman injured will be confined to bed for a week or two, she got off lightly for her folly. The old woman, who is between 50 and 60 years of age, and rejoices under the name of Lo Yan, was a passenger in tramcar No. 12. Near the Sailor's Home, and before the motorman had applied his brake to bring the car to a standstill at the corner, the old woman walked out of the car. It is needless to mention what occurred when she touched terra firma, suffice it to say that she had to be removed to hospital with a lacerated face and an injured arm.

A STREET coolie entered an opium divan in Staunton Street last night and informed the proprietor that he wanted a smoke. He was comfortably installed on a bed and the smoking paraphernalia put at his side. After he had smoked ten cents' worth of opium, he got up and prepared himself to leave. The coolie had only got as far as the door when the proprietor, in clearing away the smoking apparatus from the bed, discovered that the pipe had vanished. The coolie was called back and on being searched the pipe was found "up his sleeve." He was given in charge. This morning, at the Police Court, before Mr. C. A. D. Melbourne, the coolie was sentenced to fourteen days' hard labour.

THE COLLISION CASE.

"BRAND" v. "DAINA KOTOHIRA MARU."

In Admiralty Jurisdiction this morning His Honour Sir Francis Piggott, Chief Justice, delivered the following judgment in this case, which has been already reported in these columns.

Mr. E. H. Sharp, K.C., instructed by Mr. John Hastings, appeared for the Kotohira Maru and Mr. M. W. Slade, instructed by Mr. E. J. Grist, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, appeared for the Brand.

THE JUDGMENT.

In giving judgment His Lordship said: This was a case of a collision between the Norwegian s.s. Brand and the Japanese s.s. Daini Kotohira Maru in the China Sea a little to the east of Pedro Blanco in a dense fog. The Japanese ship admitted blame, but contended that the Norwegian ship was also to blame. There was in the case one issue of fact on which the evidence on the two sides was conflicting, or at least not reconcilable. The Kotohira Maru was blowing her whistle apparently with regularity but whether the Brand was blowing her whistle in accordance with the regulations was contested. Owing to the view which I take of the facts in which the Assessor concurs the Court is not called upon to express an opinion on this question. I take the following facts as given by the witnesses for the Brand. The second mate was most precise. He said he heard the whistle of another vessel which afterwards was ascertained to be the Kotohira Maru on the port quarter at 4 a.m.; that he heard it again about every other minute sometimes more sometimes less, than two minutes on the port quarter; that by 5 a.m. she was one point before the Brand's beam. He then heard it regularly overtaking them; about 5.10 she was three points before the beam; and the last time he heard it she was four points before the beam. This was he said about three or four minutes before the collision. Between 5.10 and the collision he could not remember hearing more than one whistle; a few minutes after hearing the last whistle he saw her two and a half points on the port bow. The inference which he drew from this series of whistles was that the vessel was getting farther and farther ahead on the port side, especially the last ten minutes; he thought that she was going safely on as there was nothing to direct attention to her. The last whistle was a bit louder; he thought he observed it because of this. The position of the vessel given by the mate up to what he calls the last whistle coincides with the master's evidence; he said that he heard a whistle after he stopped for son ding three points forward of the beam; that he then ordered the engines to go slow ahead to let the steamship get more ahead and altered his course one point to the south to clear Pedro Blanco. It seems that he had calculated the speed of the other vessel accurately at eight and a half knots; his own speed when the whistles were first heard was six knots. About three minutes before the collision he heard the whistle four points on the port bow; he heard it a little closer a little louder; he then put the engines at half speed ahead, concluding that she was going farther ahead. There was a little wind from the south and he thought it was wind which had brought the sound, that is, made it sound louder. Later on he said the last louder whistle was a little louder than the others; of the same loudness as when the vessel was passing the Brand. In cross-examination he said that when she was coming up there was a risk of her running into the Brand; but that the risk ended when she got past the beam; and that he thought she was going right away from him until she was right on him. There was some question as to whether the order "half speed ahead" was in fact obeyed. It is unnecessary, in the view the Court takes of the case, to consider any other fact; the Kotohira Maru admits that she was to blame and that she violated article 16 of the regulation by going eight and a half knots in the fog, which was certainly not a moderate speed as required by the article. The question for the Court was, whether the Brand was not, on the showing of her own officers, also to blame. The first point to be decided is how in the circumstances detailed the second paragraph of article 16 is to be applied. Putting the whistles on her quarter on one side the Brand heard the fog signal of a vessel forward of the beam. This was the position of all the whistles after the Kotohira Maru had passed her beam down to and including the last. Until the position of that vessel had been ascertained, it was the duty of the Brand to stop her engines; and then, after stopping her engines, to "navigate with caution until danger of collision is over." Was the position of the Kotohira Maru ascertained? The learned Counsel for the Brand contended that it was, because the whole service of whistles beginning with those on the port quarter showed that the Kotohira Maru was on a parallel course, and that as they were heard one, two, three and four points on the Brand's bow, he had ascertained her position which was, so the master concluded, right ahead continuing the parallel course on to Hongkong. This ignores the fact that the last was a louder whistle. I think as a matter of construction that article 16 requires that the position of the other vessel should be ascertained at each whistle, and though it is possible that the position may be correctly ascertained to be on a parallel course continued out of hearing by observing a series of regularly increasing and diminishing whistles, directly the sequence of sounds which would result from such a parallel course is interrupted, it is the duty of the vessel hearing them to comply with the requirements of the article again, as if the new sound were a first whistle, i.e., she must stop her engines until the position from which it comes is ascertained, and then navigate with caution until the danger of collision, which had again arisen, is again over. From the point of view of seamanship, the Assessor agrees with this interpretation of Article 16; and, indeed, it would lose its meaning if it were not so. I then put these questions definitely to the Assessor: (1) Was the master of the Brand justified in concluding that the extra loudness of the last whistle was due to the wind or from any other cause so as to justify him in not complying with the article? His answer is, No. It is indeed impossible to imagine any other answer possible, for it cannot be conceived that a master of a ship should make an error of judgment that such an important matter and not take the consequences if a collision ensues, there being no train of circumstances to excuse him. The case of the Dordogne would not warrant such a proposition, but practically the opposite. (2) Was it the duty of the Brand on hearing this louder whistle to stop her engines? The assessor's answer is, Yes. Ought the master to have assumed from the fact of this louder whistle being heard that there was danger of collision? His answer is, Yes. (3) Was the order "Half speed ahead" consistent with cautious navigation in the circumstances? The answer is, No. (4) Did the Brand's engines, in fact, go at half speed ahead or did she continue at her speed of four knots? The evidence is not very satisfactory on this point, but the Assessor is of opinion that the speed was in fact increased, though to what extent the evidence does not enable him to say. The Assessor is of opinion further that the circumstances were wrong owing to the density of the fog, irrespective of the last and louder whistle. The defence of the Brand is that she was an overtaking vessel; that the Kotohira Maru was the overtaking vessel and that as she was passed and clear on the master's assumption the Brand was free to alter her course and speed. Assuming Articles 21 and 24 of the regulations to apply, the error of judgment with regard to the last and louder whistle would of itself show that the defence was bad. But and as to this, it is hardly necessary to refer to authorities, the directions of article 16 are to be complied with in a fog; and they cannot be read together with Articles 21 and 24, for these articles imply that the vessels are moving in their ordinary course and are in sight of one another, where Article 16 specifically enjoins stopping and navigating with caution. It was said that the Kotohira Maru was in the wrong in suddenly altering her course to the north through an angle of over 90 degrees. She was wrong as to her speed, but why was she wrong in this? The reason given by her master was sufficient: He wanted to anchor in Hong Hai Bay during the dense fog. The navigation of the sea is free; there is nothing to prevent a ship taking this course if she so desires even though she crosses a regular track of steamers so long as she complies with the regulations. In ordinary weather day or night she must obey the rule of the road. In a fog she must comply with the rules. There are no other regulations imposed save good seamanship. Putting all questions on one side as to whether the Brand was whistling, the Kotohira Maru did whistle and the attraction in the sound of her whistle should have been sufficient warning to any ship coming down the regular track. After the circumstances very slightly and this becomes quite clear. Supposing the Kotohira Maru had suddenly discovered Pedro Blanco ahead of her she might have altered her course as she in fact did, and what other signal could she have given than that of whistling as she in fact did. The Kotohira Maru has admitted herself to blame on account of her excessive speed. The Court is of opinion for the reasons above given that the Brand is also to blame. Judgment will therefore be entered in the terms of the Kotohira Maru's counterclaim. The Assessor desires me to add on his behalf that the engineer of the Brand was greatly in fault for not reporting to the bridge his inability to carry out the order "half speed ahead" as soon after he received it as possible. He also wishes to point out the immense importance of all ships being supplied with speed tables corresponding to revolutions in the screw remarks I concur.

Mr. Sharp contended, then, that each party should pay his own costs up to the time of the Brand's admission, and that the plaintiffs should pay the costs subsequent to that date. It was also contended that each party pay his own costs up to the date of the filing of the answer, and then the Kotohira Maru will get her costs, as the latter delayed filing her preliminary act.

His Honour said: Each party will pay his own costs up to and including the 24th April, and that the Daini Kotohira Maru is to receive her costs.

SAN FRANCISCO EARTHQUAKE.

TRAFFIC FROM THE ORIENT.

We are informed by Mr. Silverstone, agent in Hongkong for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, O. & O. Company, and representative also for the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, that he has received information from the San Francisco office that passengers from the Orient desiring to pass through San Francisco en route to eastern points in the United States or to Europe, can, without inconvenience, pass through San Francisco, and that accommodation will be provided on the steamers of these companies until the departure of trains. The terminals and railroad connections have suffered no injury whatever from either earthquake or fire, and Mr. Silverstone states that he is prepared to handle all business, freight and passenger, exactly the same as heretofore. The s.s. Mangolia sailed from San Francisco on the 2nd inst., and the Chiao sailed on the 5th inst., with the passenger list and a complete cargo.

ALLEGED THEFT OF EYE-GLASSES.

Edward Cullen Elliott, who had lately severed his connection with Mr. Lazarus, the optician, was arrested on Saturday by virtue of a warrant made out by A. S. Tuxford, the manager, on a charge of stealing, during the month of April, a pair of rimless eyeglasses and leather case, valued at $5, the property of the firm. Mr. Otto Kook Sing who appeared on behalf of the defendant, entered a plea of "not guilty" and applied for a remand.

Mr. Hazeland—Is the complainant here?

Serjt. Eerner—No, your Worship.

Mr. Hazeland—When will he be here?

Serjt. Eerner—He is ill in bed with fever, your Worship, and cannot attend to-day.

Mr. Sing—Will you ask your Worship for a week's remand and light bail.

Mr. Hazeland—Very well. How much bail can you put up?

Mr. Sing—About $50, your Worship.

Mr. Hazeland—The case is remanded until Monday next.

Bail $50.

ALLEGED MANSLAUGHTER.

Before Mr. F. A. Hazeland, at the Police Court this forenoon, Chan King, a carpenter, was charged with the manslaughter of one Kwun Cheung, No. 33 Queen's Road Central, on 25th April. The prisoner pleaded "not guilty." Serjt. Fenton conducted the case for the police.

After evidence was called, the prisoner was committed for trial.

The Tokio Review.

Tokio, 30th April.

Ideal weather prevailed for the unique spectacle to-day and the triumphal review of the troops was an unqualified success. There participated 2,127 officers and 29,079 men, belonging to 109 regiments, and the line of troops extended over ten miles.

H.M. the Emperor and the members of the Royal Household, including Prince Witwa of Corea, drove to the review followed by Marshal Marquis Oyama, General Kodama, Chief of Staff, the Governor-General, the army corps commanders, and Col. Hume, British military attaché.

Upon the completion of the march past the Emperor granted a rescript in which His Majesty expressed his gratification at the high morale and good organisation of the troops. Marshal Oyama replied.

After luncheon the troops marched round the Palace Grounds and were dismissed near Hibiya Park.

The balloon corps participated in the review. A street procession was also arranged.

Marshal Oyama, in an interview, made a plea for national unity.

General Nogi said the review was not intended as a display merely, but it aimed to testify to the progress of the army and he pledged himself to endeavour to prevent the nation, now that the war is over, losing the warlike spirit.

General Kawamura said that the high morale of the troops was a consequence of the national spirit, which it was most advisable to keep always high.

Foreign Traders in Peking.

DEATH OF MR. JEHENGIR N. KATRAK.

We regret to record the death, which occurred at his residence, 15 Gage Street, last night, of Mr. Jehengir N. Katrak, cotton and yarn broker for the well-known firms of R. L. Woodwala & Co., Abdoolah Ebrahim & Co., and A. M. Essabhy. Mr. Katrak had been in somewhat bad health for some time, mourning the death, which occurred a few months ago, of his father. It was not thought, however, that he was so seriously ill as to alarm his friends, but he had a sudden seizure last night and died at 9 p.m. The late Mr. Katrak came to Hongkong in 1893 as an assistant to Mr. J. Jamasjee, late cotton and yarn broker. Since the latter's death, Mr. Katrak was associated with the three firms mentioned above, in which his uncle was a broker. He was only 34 years of age, and leaves a widowed mother and two sisters to mourn his loss. He was popular among the brokers, and members of the Parsee community in Hongkong. The funeral took place this forenoon, the burial being carried out with the full rites of the Parsees. Many friends and relatives attended the body to its last resting place.

The United States.

President Roosevelt, in a message to Congress, says, that investigation has shown the Standard Oil Co. benefited enormously by the secret unlawful methods of the Sugar Trust; and that other great corporations are guilty of the same practices.

Prosecutions are being considered, but he urges Congress to strengthen the powers of inter-State commerce by a commission.

COLLISION IN THE WEST RIVER.

"HOI CHENG"—"HUN LEE."

On the 4th inst., a collision occurred between the Hoi Cheng and Hun Lee, in the West River, which resulted in serious damage to the Hoi Cheng, and minor damage to the Hun Lee. The Hoi Cheng had her stem smashed, besides sustaining other damages, though she was able to get in to Hongkong, and is now in the Kowloon Dock Company's hands for overhaul and repairs. The Hun Lee escaped with damage, chiefly to her superstructure and it was not considered necessary to dock her. How the collision occurred could not be ascertained, as both sides, in view of possible admittance proceedings hereafter, are naturally reticent on the subject. It is not yet known whether it will be considered necessary to hold a preliminary Court of Inquiry into the cause of the collision.

CANTON-HANKOW RAILWAY.

CONTEST FOR SUPREME POWER.

[From Our Correspondent.]

Canton, 5th May.

The shares issued for the construction of the Canton-Hankow railway have been largely over-subscribed.

The hospitals, guilds, gentry and all those who have contributed to the share-list are splitting up into sections and fighting for the right to nominate and elect the general manager of the line.

The Chinese in Hongkong appear to be standing alone in this conflict for authority and power, taking neither one side nor another. It is all very interesting, and it will be well to watch the outcome of the controversy.

Many are of opinion that it would certainly be wrong to hand over the power of electing the general manager to the hospitals and guilds.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER AT WANCHAI.

BODY FOUND IN EMPTY HOUSE.

Apparently this is the month for outrages, for up to the present no less than four murders have been committed in Hongkong during May, and yet another comes from the eastern end of the city. Some days ago, a report was made to the police that a hawker, who sells cloth at Wanchai, had been missing for a few days.

The description of the man was taken and information telephoned to the different stations. Two days passed and nothing further was heard of the missing hawker, although a strict watch was kept by the police. On Saturday morning last, at about 5 o'clock, Inspector Fincher, of the Sanitary Department, entered No. 2 Police Station and reported to the officer in charge that whilst on duty in Nallah Lane he was called in by some coolies to remove a dead body.

The sanitary inspector entered the house, No. 93, which is unoccupied, with his informers, and in the middle of the floor there was a dead body, the floor being covered with blood. He left the house without touching the body, and reported the matter in the proper channel.

Inspector Gourlay, accompanied Inspector Fincher, went back to the house in question, and examined the corpse. There were three nasty gashes on the side of the face and a number on his arms. Beside the pool of blood and close by the dead man's side lay an axe, besmeared with blood. An ambulance was summoned and the body removed to the Morgue. There the body was further examined, and it was ascertained that the man had been dead for about thirty hours, and the body was slightly decomposed. The people who made the report of the missing hawker were summoned to the mortuary and identified the dead man; they gave as Wong Chong, residing at No. 40, Peel Street. The owner of the house, where the murder was committed, was interviewed by the police, as to who were the occupants. She stated that some days ago, two men, who looked like carpenters, went to her to take the house. The price was mutually arranged and they informed the landlady that it was their intention of erecting some cubicles in the house. She heard nothing more about the men. The locality in which the murder was committed is so situated that a brutal act might be perpetrated without anybody's knowledge. It is surmised that the murder of the cloth hawker was premeditated, and the house was engaged solely for that purpose. A "bait" was put at the entrance of the Lane, and when the deceased hawker was passing, he was called and informed that the tenants of house No. 90 wanted to buy some clothes. Unsuspecting the hawker ascended the steps, with his load on his shoulder, knocked at the door and was admitted. The carpenters must have attacked the deceased with their carpentering tools on admitting him, for they got away with the deceased man's load of cloth, valued at $30, and on finding the body, it was seen that his pockets had been rifled, and $10 in small change stolen. After they had performed their dastardly deed, they vanished. The occupants of the flat below said, on being questioned by the police, that they heard no noise when the murder was said to have been committed nor did they see any cloth hawker enter the house. What they did know, however, was that during the last two days, they did not hear any hammering, as they had done on the previous day. There can be no hesitation in saying that, in all probability, the murderers are out of the Colony, but the police are making stringent inquiries, and it is to be hoped they will be successful in bringing the murderers to book.

ALLEGED MURDER AT MOANG-KOK.

Fung Kai Sing and Chung Shui, coal coolies, on board coal junk No. 941, were charged before Mr. C. A. D. Melbourne, at the Police Court this afternoon, with the murder of one Mak Kwai, on board the junk in Yaumati Bay, on the afternoon of the 4th instant. Inspector Macdonald prosecuted on behalf of the police; the prisoners were undefended.

Dr. H. Macfarlane, officer in charge of the Kowloon Morgue, said that on 5th May he held a post mortem examination on the body of Mak Kwai. In his opinion deceased's death was due to hemorrhage following the rupture of an enlarged spleen. There were no external wounds on the body. A kick, a blow, or a fall would cause the spleen to rupture.

Mak Sang, a brother of the deceased, and a cook on board the coal junk, stated that he was a seaman on the junk. On the 4th instant, after 1 p.m., deceased was adjusting the gangway of the junk. On the 10th of the junk there was an old coal basket, which was placed there by the first defendant. The deceased picked up the basket, which was in his way, to put it aside, and the wind blew it overboard. Witness did not see his brother throw the basket overboard. The first defendant, who was in the coal bunk, accused deceased of throwing his basket away. When he said this, defendant had already joined deceased on the 10th, and he was followed by the second defendant. After a few words had passed, the first defendant struck the deceased, and the second defendant joined in, and on the stomach. They thrashed the deceased for about five minutes and they were separated by two men. After this the defendants returned to work, and the deceased got up and went to his cabin. After deceased was seated for about two minutes, he cried that he was in pain and commenced vomiting. From the time after the assault, until the time deceased said he felt sick, all took three minutes. Five minutes later the deceased became unconscious and died. The police were called and prisoners taken in charge, and the body removed. Other witnesses were called and the case adjourned.

THE GREAT THURSTON

AND HIS MARVELS.

"Don't take it simply from me or from my advertisements, but come and judge for yourselves, and then tell the truth about what you see, as it strikes you." Thus spake Mr. Howard Thurston to a representative of the Hongkong Telegraph Saturday, and we went, we saw, and were convinced that this marvellous magician does not claim to be or to do anything more than he is entitled to claim, for he will prove his words to his audience. It may truly be said of his opening performance on Saturday night, that it was one of magic, mirth and mystery, while "amazement" very aptly describes the sensation experienced by the audience at the truly wonderful illusions he shows them. The first part commenced with some of the sligher tricks of legerdemain, card-flooding, the flight of pigeons, an obedient clock which stops at the word of command from anyone in the auditorium, at any hour chosen, extracting numerous eggs from a borrowed hat, etc., etc. Expectation then becomes keen when the attendants carry on to the stage a crystal tank, which, after placing it on a stand, they proceed to fill up with warm water, while Thurston walks round it to show its transparency. As soon as this receptacle is filled to the brim a light cloth is thrown over the tank, and on its being immediately withdrawn a girl is seen to be lying in the full length in the water. She rises slowly, and is assisted out and down, and then, to everybody's wonder, the feat is repeated, and a second young mermaid makes her appearance. While the stage is being cleared and prepared for the further magical wonders, the mirth of the evening is supplied by some most amusing and well-got-up cinematograph pictures, which keep the house in convulsions. The Chinese magic, performed in true Chinese style, with all necessary local colour in costumes, stage-appointments, and environments, is entrancing, and performed with most marvellous facility. Miss Maude Amber delighted her hearers with her comic song, "I've got my fingers crossed, so you can't touch me," and had to repeat it before she was permitted to retire. Part third, when the curtain rose after a brief interval, was a revelation in stage arrangement, with its Oriental gorgeousness of drapery and furnishings, and with Thurston in the centre in the costume of a magician to match his surroundings. Several "disappearing" illusions were then presented, the most startling being that of a young lady from a series of boxes fitting one into the other, the whole being enclosed in a locked box which was suspended from the roof, where it had hung all the evening. The "inexhaustible coconuts," though not altogether a new trick, was remarkably well done, for one could not but wonder where all the "milk" came from. A number of tricks "in higher vein," such as floating balloons, productions of ducks, geese, and even a sucking pig, (which she did it resolutely and bravely) were then subjected to by holding off the stage, squealing lustily from impossible places, and up to the final illusion of the evening, "Amazement"—and that is exactly what it caused, for what else can one feel when one sees a young lady calmly floating in the air, without any visible support, and rising and falling at the will of the magician? This startling programme is to be repeated a few nights more and then there will be some changes in the items, and any one who loses the opportunity of witnessing the most marvellous performance ever produced in the Colony, will sorely regret it when he clearly understands what he has missed, for it is worth going to see, however far one has to travel, for the fare provided more than repays one for the trouble of going a long way.

The stage arrangements are excellent and the appointments in capital taste.

Altogether the Great Thurston provides a most delightful three hours of magic, mirth and mystery. On Saturday night the Theatre Royal was packed to overflowing, a record for Hongkong, and we understand that Thurston and his staff were well pleased with their reception, and hope such generous patronage will continue, as it doubtless will.

A Peking dispatch states that H.E. Viceroy Tse Chih-chuen, who has strenuously opposed the building of the Kowloon-Canton Railway by British capitalists alone, demanding that the line should be constructed conjointly by British and Chinese, has been informed by the Waiwup that his object has been accomplished and that that Board has signed an agreement to that effect with the British Minister in Peking.

ST. GEORGE'S CLUB SMOKING CONCERT.

That the first smoker, at the new St. George's Club, should have proved such a pronounced success, was in a great measure due to the able and energetic Entertainment Committee, who did their utmost to cultivate that true Bohemian spirit, amongst the members and guests, which should at all times characterise these gatherings. The lengthy and most enjoyable programme, proved that the Club is also to be congratulated on having a galaxy of talent of no mean order, at their disposal, including these two popular comedians, Messrs. Walslow and G. W. Burnett, both being in great demand on Saturday night. During the evening Mr. F. C. Barlow played two delightful violin solos from Hans Gitta "Concertino" and Mr. F. Chapple's singing of "The Bandolero" was a very creditable performance, also Mr. G. R. Edwards in the tune-ful refrain "My Irish Molly" was heartily applauded. The other artists appearing were Messrs. P. W. Goldring, Q. C. Diss, E. Hayward Jordan, W. W. Jellings, I. I. Lookay and Percy Browner. The genial Mr. A. C. Robinson made an excellent chairman.

YESTERDAY'S RACES.

Despite the evil condition of the weather prevailing yesterday, the members of the Corinthian Yacht Club had the temerity to sail the race we announced to take place in our Saturday's issue, as well as a sweepstake race, along the usual course. There was a fair wind, but considerable rain, with a very choppy sea, but those facts notwithstanding, the yachtsmen managed to finish the races within the time limit, with the following results:—
